

Bug ID: 004

Title: Non-intuitive placement of gender selection on the character creation page

Description: The gender selection options (Male and Female) are placed in a columnar format, which is not intuitive for users. This placement makes the selection process less user-friendly and could lead to confusion. A more intuitive placement would enhance the overall user experience.

Steps to Reproduce:

1. Open the character creation page.
2. Observe the placement of the gender selection options for "Male" and "Female."

Expected Behavior: The gender selection options should be placed in a more intuitive location, such as horizontally aligned or in a more prominent and easily accessible section of the form.

Actual Behavior: The gender selection options are placed in a column, which is less intuitive and can be confusing for users.

Environment:

- Browser: Google Chrome 91.0.4472.124
- Operating System: Windows 10
- Device: Dell XPS 13 Laptop

Attachments: N/A

Priority: Medium

Additional Information: The current placement of the gender selection options disrupts the flow of the form and can make it difficult for users to quickly and easily select their gender. Improving the layout will enhance the user experience and make the character creation process more seamless.
